

Headless Commerce Accelerator for Sitecore Experience Commerce

More and more organizations have been choosing Sitecore for commerce. Until now, however, an open source, turnkey solution to fully decouple Sitecore Experience Commerce 9.3 from the front-end website has not been publicly available. EPAM, an eight-time Sitecore Experience Award winner and Sitecore Platinum Partner, has changed that with its Headless Commerce Accelerator for Sitecore Experience Commerce™.

Available on GitHub, this custom accelerator is designed as a reference implementation for a scalable B2C Sitecore Commerce ecosystem, and:

- Increases operational efficiencies by using a JavaScript Services (JSS)-based headless eCommerce site
- Empowers productivity from day one through tested source code that saves teams weeks of development time
- Allows front-end JavaScript developers to quickly develop and adjust eCommerce website features independently from Sitecore back-end developers
- Uses REACT to accelerate the development process with code re-use
- Provides a professionally branded, custom storefront UI
- Offers a proven alternative to the Sitecore Experience Accelerator (SXA)-based storefront

If you like saving time, effort and money on Sitecore Experience Commerce™ development while implementing the latest technology trends, then the Headless Commerce Accelerator for Sitecore Experience Commerce is the right starting point for your Sitecore Commerce implementation.
